NEC and Wharf T&T Signed VIP Reseller Agreement

Team to Reshape Business Communication Applications for Hong Kong Businesses

Hong Kong, 22 May 2008 – NEC Hong Kong Limited (“NEC”) and Wharf T&T Limited (“Wharf T&T”), the second largest fixed line telecommunications operator in Hong Kong, jointly announced a VIP reseller agreement which gives Wharf T&T the right to sell NEC telecommunications products and solutions through its strong distribution channel in Hong Kong. With the reseller agreement, NEC and Wharf T&T will work hand in hand to further expand its reach in multinational corporation (MNC) markets, leading to a new communications era and bringing an enlightened perspective to Hong Kong business.

“The collaboration between NEC and Wharf T&T will bring new insights to Hong Kong telecommunications industry. Leveraging Wharf T&T’s vast telecommunications network and market coverage, we are able to further extend our market reach, offering diversified, reliable and quality products to the market, providing a one-stop telecommunication solution to the corporate market. Having telecom products as the starting point, NEC will bring its entire product line to the market with the support of Wharf T&T, hence fostering a win-win situation.” Mr. Ray Cheung, General Manager of Business Solutions and Services of NEC said.

“NEC is renowned for its outstanding solutions and highly diversified telecommunication products. For many years, NEC has been a close and reliable partner for banking and hospitality sectors. Over 65% hotels have chosen NEC as their exclusive telecommunication products providers today, however we aim to deliver our quality products to different industries and further penetrate the telecommunication market. Our full range of products include key telephone system (10 to 20,000 lines), multiple functional analogue, digital and IP Phone for small-to-large sized enterprises to call centre, CTI, Q-Master and Unified Communication solutions for MNCs. Moreover, NEC provides a series of value-added services, facsimiles, IP convergence and video-conference products which are suitable for corporate internal and external communications. It is believed that the full range product line can satisfy the market and the partnership provides seamless collaboration and synergy which enables NEC and Wharf T&T to bring more quality telecommunications products and services to customers, fostering a healthy and competitive environment.” Mr. Cheung added.

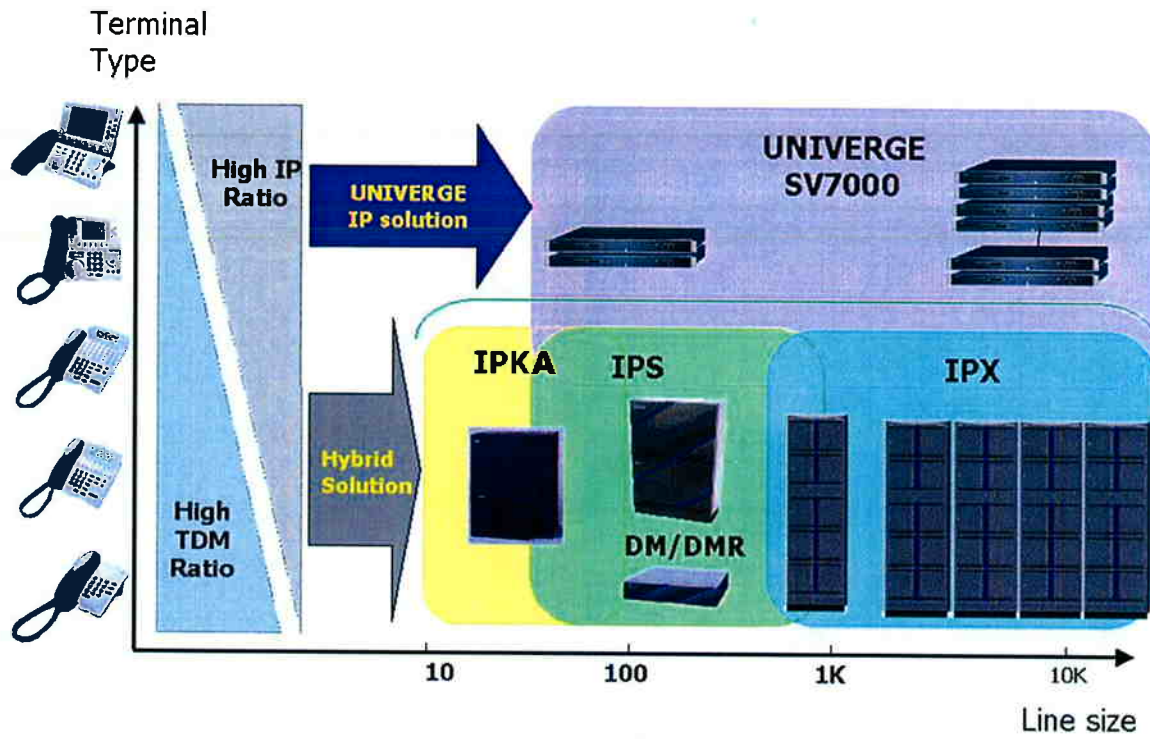

NEC

"Wharf T&T's long-standing communications experience and integrated Information & Communications Technology (ICT) expertise has been helping Hong Kong companies manage their distinctive demand for advanced IT & Telecommunications (IT&T) solutions. Our comprehensive managed services, including but not limited to SUPERTONE IP phone and CENTREX sophisticated office phone system, provide a broad spectrum of ICT service platforms tailor-made for customers' specific needs. Operations outsourcing, low-cost of ownership for advanced equipment, hassle-free technology adaptation and significantly enhanced service quality are just a few benefits we provide to enterprises. This partnership will further strengthen our product mix which in turn benefits our customers with more choices on diversified telecommunication equipment when using our superb managed services." said Mr. Kam Poon, Vice President, Business Market, Wharf T&T Limited.

"The integration with COL in 2006 has transformed Wharf T&T into a comprehensive ICT service provider in Hong Kong, encompassing the most prestigious global IT & telecommunications solutions through close collaboration and partnership. We look forward to developing a strong, fruitful and long lasting cooperation with NEC, at the same time bringing truly innovative telecommunication applications to business customers." Mr. Poon continued.
